

Inclusive Education Workshop for Families

Saturday, February 6 &
Sunday February 7, 2010
9:30 – 4:00 pm

Holiday Inn Yorkdale
3450 Dufferin St. Toronto, ON. M6A 2V1
(Hwy 401 and Dufferin Road)

Who should attend:

Families are invited to learn how to advocate on behalf of their sons and daughters for a fully inclusive and meaningful school experience.

Learn ways to navigate the school system and strategies to deal with resistance.

Rejuvenate your vision and hear from others how school inclusion is possible and does exist.

How to register:

Contact:

Linda White 416-447-4348

ext. 239 or email at:

linda@communitylivingontario.ca

Cost:

$59.99 includes workshop plus lunch for both days.

Subsidies are available.

Presenters:

Darcy Elks

Darcy has three children, one of whom has a disability. Her passion and focus has been, and continues to be, working on behalf of her daughter, to ensure she has a life that is full, meaningful and inclusive – in school and in her community. Darcy has been a human service provider, trainer, consultant, evaluator and advocate on behalf of people who have a disability for over 30 years.

Marilyn Dolmage

As an Inclusive Education Consultant, Marilyn assists schools and families to work together to improve education. By communicating with networks across Ontario, sharing information about the law, provincial policies, effective education practices, and advocacy strategies, Marilyn has supported many families in achieving more inclusive education for their children. Since 1995 she has held a key role in the Inclusive Education Coalition of Ontario.